

NATURAL PLAYSCAPES WORKSHOP

"Adam Bienenstock is one of my heroes. He's a world leader in the development of natural playgrounds, an important strategy in our efforts to create nature-rich cities."

— Richard Louv,
Author of Last Child in the Woods, and
Co-Founder of The Children and Nature Network

BRING THE BENEFITS OF NATURE PLAY AREAS TO YOUR SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY

THURSDAY, JUNE 13 • WEGERZYN GARDENS METROPARK

THE BENEFITS OF NATURE PLAY 8 - 10AM (FREE)

Adam Bienenstock, an internationally known designer and builder, will discuss how you can bring the benefits of Natural Playscapes to your community, providing places for children to positively interact with nature and each other in creative play. Adam's insight will help craft natural playscape safe design and the public messages on how these spaces make children happier healthier and smarter. He will address effective designs and concerns about liability. Participants are encouraged to visit the Children's Gardens after the program.

NATURAL PLAYSCAPE PROFESSIONAL TOUR

8AM - 3:30PM $20 INCLUDES BOX LUNCH | REGISTRATION REQUIRED

Attend the Benefits of Nature Play Areas (required) and then join us on a tour to visit local Natural Playscape sites at Lincoln Hill Gardens, Forest Field Park, and Lost Creek Reserve with additional discussion and hand-on design exercises presented by Adam Bienenstock. Limited seats available.
